Exceptional Results. Exceptional Care.

When it comes to cosmetic surgery, expect nothing but the best at Ellsworth Plastic Surgery. Dr. Warren Ellsworth IV, a board-certified plastic surgeon at Ellsworth Plastic Surgery, has helped countless women with cosmetic and reconstructive procedures for the face, breast, and body with his compassion and concern.

Committed to the community, Dr. Ellsworth serves as the Medical Director of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery at Houston Methodist West Hospital. He is also on staff with the Institute of Reconstructive Surgery that expands across the Houston Methodist system.

“For anyone interested in cosmetic plastic surgery, the demand has never been higher,” says Dr. Ellsworth. “The most important thing to consider is that you seek out a board-certified plastic surgeon, which is a critical first step. This identifies a group of surgeons with the highest level of training, with patient safety being paramount.”

Expect each patient to be assigned a registered nurse or physician assistant who will be assigned to their care and walk them through the entire process. They can also coordinate a patient’s care for better results.

Services Offered

From body contouring to restoring sensation to the breast after mastectomy, Ellsworth Plastic Surgery offers a broad spectrum of cosmetic and reconstructive procedures.

PLASTIC SURGERY

“We do a lot of breast reconstruction,” says Dr. Ellsworth, “utilizing microsurgery to connect small vessels under a microscope to transplant tissue from one portion of the body to the chest. This creates a natural and lasting breast for patients who have undergone a mastectomy.” Through cutting-edge techniques, restoration of sensation is attempted and women’s lives are changed in the process.

Breast reconstruction makes a patient feel whole again and helps restore confidence and femininity. Dr. Ellsworth says, “It’s a very gratifying part of the practice.”

Other services offered include mommy makeovers, liposuction, body contouring, facelifts, and non-invasive therapy.

Expanding the Team

Dr. Ellsworth says, “We have thoughtfully and strategically chosen partners who complement each other. With an eye on serving the community, we are excited to continue to grow and offer the latest in plastic surgery.” In an effort to support the needs of patients, Dr. Ellsworth’s team has expanded to include Dr. Rodger H. Brown and Dr. Andrew C. Gratzon.

“I fell in love with plastic surgery because it is a specialty requiring creativity, problem-solving, and technical skill, which can make a direct and immediate impact on patients’ lives,” says Dr. Brown. After medical school, Dr. Brown spent six years training at the Baylor College of Medicine for his plastic surgery residency, one of the top programs in the country. In July 2016, he became a partner at the Houston Methodist Institute for Reconstructive Surgery, specializing in facial reconstruction after trauma and skin cancer, breast reconstruction, and cosmetic surgery. He excels in reconstruction after skin cancer defects. Dr. Ellsworth states, “It’s great to work with compassionate surgeons, like Dr. Brown. He brings remarkable surgical talent to the community.”

Dr. Gratzon is the third partner recently added to the team. Dr. Ellsworth comments, “He was hand-selected for this position because of his focus and interest in cutting-edge techniques in plastic surgery. He puts the patient at the center of everything that we do; Dr. Gratzon is a great addition to the team with remarkable technical skills.” Dr. Gratzon came on board this summer and rounds out this comprehensive team of experts.

Through the art of plastic surgery, I am committed to utilizing the most advanced surgical techniques to restore both form and function in a meticulous and thoughtful manner,” says Dr. Gratzon.

Expanding the Office

Dr. Ellsworth is happy to announce that to meet the demand of the community a large office expansion is underway at Houston Methodist West. A team of experts will do consultations, cosmetic injectables and offer HydraFacials, laser therapy, and the newest skincare cosmetic options.

“We are excited to grow and serve the community in a safe and personal way,” says Dr. Ellsworth. Each and every member of the staff is fully vaccinated against COVID-19.
